EXHIBITIONS

Apoteka – Space for Contemporary Art

Tomislav Gotovac: Film by All Means

22 June - 17 August 2019

The exhibition Tomislav Gotovac: Film by All Means at Apoteka - Space for Contemporary Art is compact, as is the space of Apoteka, but it presents several key moments as examples of Gotovac's film thinking by all means. The exhibition is organised in cooperation with the Tomislav Gotovac Institute and follows on from the project Cinemaniac: Think Film 2019, a side programme of Pula Film Festival.

SKUC - Serbian Cultural Centre

Sonja Savić: A City Girl

11 - 20 July 2019

OPENING 11 July / 8 p.m.

Sonja Savić filmed her first author film in 1996, and had starred in more than 40 film and TV roles. Thanks to her massive talent and incredible ability of transformation, she starred in roles that secured her wide popularity and are remembered by generations. Five of her accomplishments, which the audience at Pula will be able to see as part of this multimedia exhibition, can be considered anthological in terms of their significance and artistic value within experimental and alternative film and video production in the territory of former Yugoslavia.

Reinterpretation of the Visual Identity of the 66th Pula Film Festival by students of the School of Applied Arts and Design, Pula

13- 26 July 2019

The first grade of the School of Applied Arts and Design, Pula, mentored by teacher Denis Sardoz, will join the 66th Pula Film Festival with their reinterpretation of this year's visual identity developed by Marko Rašić. 28 students have joined the project, the first design challenge in their future education. The exhibition will show the students' drawing techniques, their contribution to the 66th Pula Film Festival.

MEMO Museum

Festival of Yugoslavian Film

13 - 31 July 2019

The exhibition Festival of Yugoslavian Film is a new, additional section of the MEMO Museum (Museum of Good Memories). The Museum focuses on everyday life in Pula from the 1950s to the 1980s, and this exhibition will show some of the details of Pula Film Festival in the same period, a time when the Festival was established. Along with photographs, posters, and film recordings, the Museum also owns several items relating to film and cinema, such as cameras, projectors, and screens, which will be exhibited as part of this exhibition.

Visitors with accreditations, passes, and tickets enjoy free entry to the Memo Museum for the duration of the Festival.

Cinemaniac > Think Film (Goran Trbuljak: WOW, WOW and Ready-Made – individual exhibition; Think Film >Think Cinema – group exhibition)

14 July – 1 August 2019

OPENING 14 July / 8 p.m.

Cinemaniac > Think Film is a multi-annual research platform examining the connections between film, moving images and contemporary art, which has been a side programme of Pula Film Festival since 2002. The 18th edition is structured in two parts, as two separate exhibitions, with the addition of screenings and discussions. (15 July / 7 p.m. - book presentation: Lars Henrik Gass: Film and Art After Cinema; 8 p.m. - screening of selected films from the International Short Film Festival, Oberhausen)

Goran Trbuljak: Painting (45 Years of Not Painting)

15 July – 1 September 2019

OPENING: 15 July / 8 p.m.

The exhibition presents 45 years of not painting by Goran Trbuljak, and includes screenings of films by the author. Continuous examination of the museum and gallery system, the roles and positions of the artists and art in the context and perception of modern society, the relationship of the individual toward art, the role of collectors and the market, and considerations of the creation and mission of an art work are primary interests of Trbuljak's visual expression.

Jasenko Rasol: Extras

11 July – 6 August 2019

OPENING: 12 July / 9 p.m.

Photographing extras, the people who fill the space behind the leading actors in a film, Jasenko Rasol destabilises the hierarchy of the film set where they are just vehicles for a given function. By bringing them to the forefront, recording their personal gestures or actions, he transfers them from the anonymous collective space into the zone of singularity. Extras were photographed in the films: Love or Death (2014), directed by Daniel Kušan; The High Sun (2015), directed by Dalibor Matanić, All the Best (2016), directed by Snježana Tribuson; Escape to the Sea (2017), directed by Veljko Bulajić; The Diary of Diana B. (2018), directed by Dana Budisavljević.

BOOK PRESENTATIONS

Giardini

Time Machine 3

Dejan Kosanović: Cinematographic Activities in Pula, 1896-1918
15 July 2019 / 10 a.m.

The third festival edition of Time Machine focuses on the reissue of the book Cinematographic Activities in Pula, 1896-1918 by Dejan Kosanović. After 30 years from the first issue, with supplemented photographic documentation, the book brings to the forefront once again the beginnings of cinematographic activities in Pula until the end of the First World War. Based mostly on the available daily newspapers and periodicals of the time, the book focuses on travelling and permanent cinemas and habits of the then Pula audience.

Pula.Industry

18 - 20 July 2019

Croatian Film Focus is an international industry programme for audiovisual professionals. This year's programme will welcome a number of prominent guests from the world of film with the goal of promoting Croatian cinema, networking of Croatian filmmakers with key persons for the placing of films abroad, and discussing about the challenges of today's audiovisual industry.

Pula.Academy 2019

Croatian Chamber of Economy

18 - 20 July 2019

The 66th Pula Film Festival and the Academy of Dramatic Art of the University in Zagreb, in cooperation with the Academy of Performing Arts in Sarajevo and the Faculty of Dramatic Arts in Belgrade, have organised a workshop on developing projects for TV series, which will be held during this year's Pula Film Festival. The workshop will focus on preparing the projects for presentations and pitches to potential partners and investors. Six student projects from the region will be part of the workshop, with the workshop programme designed and delivered by teachers from the co-organising academies and prominent professionals. The workshop aims to teach the participants how to package and present their project, or how to prepare it for the market.

YOUNG CINEPHILES

Croatian Chamber of Economy

13 - 20 July 2019

The Young Cinephiles project brings together young people future professionals in the audiovisual industry, and lovers of the seventh art with the goal of critical thinking about film. Young cinephiles will watch the films, talk to film crews, meet authors and producers from all over Europe, write and publish film reviews, attend lectures, award the Young Cinephiles Award, and of course, enjoy the 66th Pula Film Festival. Their mentor will be the film critic Krunoslav Lučić.

Professor Balthazar's Adventure Laboratory

Rin Tin Tin Kindergarten

10 - 18 July 2019

Professor Balthazar's Adventure Laboratory is a film workshop that will open its doors for the 14th time this summer and welcome a new generation of young lovers of the seventh art, that is, animated films. The workshop is designed for children from 7 to 12 years of age as a week-long programme where children will be introduced to the techniques of making and producing an animated film. The participants will learn how to use a computer and software to start making their animated films. Esteemed animator Petra Zlonoga will be the workshop leader, assisted by Ivana Vojnić Vratarić.

The film made as part of the workshop will premiere on 20 July at Istrian National Theatre before the screening of the film My Grandpa is an Alien.

Digital Natives

Pula Public Library

(multimedia room)

11 - 18 July 2019

Digital Natives is a creative film workshop for children, designed and implemented in cooperation with Dado Valentić, founder of Mytherapy, a leading digital imaging studio based in the UK. The programme is divided into a practical and a theoretical session, with special lectures organised in cooperation with leading film professionals. All participants will have a unique opportunity to work on state-of-the-art cameras and learn everything related to production and postproduction processes, step by step, just like Hollywood professionals. The workshop will be held in English, and is designed for youth from 13 to 16 years of age. Croatian director Judita Gamulin will be the workshop leader, and the film made as part of the workshop will premiere on 20 July at Istrian National Theatre before the screening of the film My Grandpa is an Alien.
